

Our Partners

MAINSTREAM brings together six higher education institutions (HEIs) from Uganda, Kenya, Ethiopia, South Africa, Togo, and Senegal, along with one from Germany. These institutions focus on agriculture through various programs, including agribusiness, sustainable agriculture, and natural resources management. The African HEIs are the primary focus of project activities, benefiting from the expertise of the German HEI, which will share its knowledge on internationalization, mobility, and climate change. This collaboration aims to enhance capacity building and achieve the project's goals.

The African HEIs include:

MAINSTREAM

ABOUT US

The Mobility 4 Agricultural International Networks Supporting Thematic Resilience and Enhancing Adaptation and Mitigation (MAINSTREAM) project offers mobility scholarships to African scholars with the goal to enhance education, skills development, and climate change resilience in agricultural knowledge systems across Africa.

MAINSTREAM targets both tertiary agricultural education and collaboration with policy and industry leaders to modernize and internationalize agricultural programs.

The project provides pathways for institutional modernisation and internationalisation reforms, leveraging the consortia existing partnership on agriculture education and skills with other public and private organisations involvement across the continent to drive innovative solutions and value addition in interdisciplinary agricultural programmes at master and doctoral levels and further inspire their inclusive implementation.

OUR OBJECTIVES

Consortium Connections

To deepen consortium connections and joint thematic operations in the sector of agriculture and farm management

Inclusive Access

To support inclusive access to P2P connections in different African regions, enabling development of professional, social and intercultural skills

Increase Internationalisation

To increase internationalisation dimension and capacities for effective hosting and sending staff and students abroad

Instil Harmonisation

To challenge different HE systems to instil harmonisation in collaboration opportunities for continental mobility

With generous funding from The Intra-Africa Academic Mobility Scheme

The Intra-Africa Academic Mobility Scheme is EU's programme to encourage international learning mobility across the African continent. The programme provides support for consortia of African Higher Education Institutions and scholarship opportunities for African trainees, students and staff.

The Intra-Africa Academic Mobility Scheme is part of the Youth Mobility for Africa flagship initiative which aims to support learning opportunities and exchanges and ultimately to promote Africa as an attractive study destination.
